Can you help us learn more about the impact of different trauma types on PTSD?

We are interested to learn more about the effect that different types and numbers of traumas have on the way people perceive themselves and on the severity of their posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD) symptoms.

Participating in the research will involve a 30-45 minute online questionnaire, or the questionnaire can be sent by post to complete on paper if you prefer.

Can you help us? Please complete the questionnaire here:
